To the Voters of Appomattox County:

Whereas, the bulwark of our people, vouchsafed by the Constitution, is in the free exercise of the right of suffrage in the election of their representatives and officers who are charged with the making and execution of laws, and

Whereas, the electoral boards of the several counties and cities of this State are charged with the solemn and responsible duty of providing the proper election machinery for the conduct of elections including the appointment of election officers who have jurisdiction and control of the several voting precincts of our county, both in general elections and in primary, or party elections, and

Whereas, so far as in our power lies, it is our purpose to safeguard the purity and sanctity of the ballot in a way that there may be a free expression of the will of those qualified in the exercise of the right of suffrage in all party and general elections, and

Whereas, in the appointment of Judges for the conduct of a Democratic Primary to be held on the 7th of August, next, a delegation of persons, who have announced their intention of being candidates for various offices subject to the ensuing Democratic Primary, having constituted and proclaimed themselves a "faction" of the Democratic party, have appeared before us with a list of persons whom they recommend for appointment as primary judges at the several precincts alleging that under the law that they are entitled to representation at the several precincts in the appointment of at least one judge known to be a supporter of their "faction" with intimations of anticipated unfair treatment of and discrimination against the candidates of their "faction," and demanding such recognition as a right of and safeguard to the interests of their candidates, and

Whereas, the laws governing general elections provides that in such elections judges shall be selected "known to belong to the two political parties casting the highest and next highest number of votes at the last preceding election," but in a party primary there is no law, warrant or authority, or legitimate excuse for attempting such a procedure, that we are forced to regard such a request as a deliberate attempt to pervert the use of the primary for personal aggrandizement and a demand for privileges and concessions to individual candidates which it is not possible to extend to each and every candidate who may submit his claims to such primary, and

Whereas, such a procedure accompanied by such a demand, so far as we are advised is unprecedented in the history of any party, and is corrupt in its conception, and repugnant to the letter and spirit of our laws, and

Whereas, it is noteworthy in the present instance, that these same persons, who have constituted themselves into this "faction" and made this extraordinary demand of this board, are well-known citizens of this county who have been identified with the county for years and who have never before, as far as we are advised, manifested such concern for what they claim to be the "fairness" of the conduct of party contests, which at this time is singularly coincident with their own personal candidacies for office that heretofore the party ship, which has landed many safely and can land as many more has never been questioned by these persons as to its safety in interest of the general public. But like untraveled voyagers, and their own personal safety being involved, they have become unduly critical of the seaworthiness of the vessel and are demanding an undue share of the "life preservers" to the prejudice of the rights of others in taking passage, and

Whereas, the action of this board has been criticised by these persons and an attempt has been made to impress the public of unfairness and partiality by its action in not acceding to an unwarranted request, and

Whereas, for the credit of this board and in interest of that confidence which the sovereign voters should at all times feel in the integrity of those charged with the conduct of elections we feel that the voters should be not only informed of the section of this board and the reasons therefor, as well as the true significance, and what we conceive to be the motives for, this unprecedented demand in the appointment of primary judges, therefore

Be it resolved:

First, That in the appointment of the primary judges for the ensuing primary, that we have rightly and properly ignored every consideration and request of persons or "faction," except that the persons selected be Democrats of unstained party fealty and regularity and men of unquestioned honesty and character, and that they have been selected without regard to their personal preferences as between candidates which we have not taken the trouble to ascertain and do not desire to know.

Second, That we desire to call attention to the fact that there are twenty-four offices, county, district and legislative, for each of which there will be one or more candidates. That the rights of each and every candidate for each and every one of these offices are equal, and they are all entitled to the same consideration, from the smallest district office to the highest and most important county office, with equal rights. That even if a dollard must know that it is impossible, in the appointment of three precinct judges that each and every one of these candidates may claim or expect that at least one of these judges shall be known to be his personal supporter, and that for any candidate to exact such consideration would be to ask with the expectation of receiving an unfair advantage, over the other candidates of his party, if there be such an advantage, which should be resented by every fair thinking person.

Third, That we, as the electoral board of this county, are a non-partisan body whose duty it is to safeguard the rights of all individuals and parties in the appointment of proper election officials both for general elections and party contests under the State primary laws; that in the appointment of judges in general elections we conform to the law in the appointment, wherever possible of a representative of each of the two parties having cast the highest and next highest vote in the last preceding election; that we regard an attempt through such a combine to secure peculiar and unfair advantage of other candidates before the same party primary as corrupt in its conception, and so brand it before the voters of this county.

Fourth, That a list of the appointments we have made as judges of the ensuing democratic primary is appended hereto, and that the same, along with these resolutions be published in The Times-Virginian. That we challenge criticism of these men for their party fealty and regularity and their honesty and high character as citizens of this county, with a feeling of assurance that every candidate who can muster sufficient votes among the Democratic voters need feel no apprehension as to the result of the primary on account of the preference of the men who will conduct the same.

PESSIMISM T OTHE FORE

"The owlet, Atheism, dropping his blue-fringed lids, and hooting at the glorious sun in heaven, cries out: 'Where is it?'" So said Coleridge, or something like it.

The sun was there, in the heaven, nevertheless it; always will be there —the sun of hope, truth, aspiration; the healer of all evil humors, the source of light and life.

But day by day we read or hear, the despairing proclamations of those who, if they have not wholly lost sight of the sun of faith which vivifies humanity, behold it only through darkened glasses.

The mournful wail from Europe is practically unanimous. The appeals to justice and rational human efforts to find a way of national salvation are half-hearted or made. Confidence in work and virtue seem to have been lost. Leaders who strove with titanic strength and sublime courage during the war, now are belabling for ghostly help, for the assistance of the gods, lest civilization sink into the void of barbarian chaos.

Where is the guiding, saving vivifying sun? Just where it always has been, where it always will be—in the heaven of human consciousness.

Of course the world is sick—through its own fault—but it has been healed of infinitely worse sickness in the tremendous past. And the gods did not heal it. Men healed it, as men at this day will heal it of all its ills. The advice of Hercules to the carter still holds. By labor we reach the stars, is as true today as at any time through the past centuries.

Mr. Lloyd Georgge is wrong, Dean Inge is wrong, Dr. Spurr is wrong; all the blyanking bands of English, German, French, Italian and American hooters at the—to them—obscured sun of righteousness and progress are wrong.

God never failed the world unless men failed in themselves to justify their right, to inherit the glories of the earth.

THE MENACE OF THE HUSTLER

A prominent Englishman in addressing the students of the Royal Colleges, recently took for his subject, "The Menace of the Hustler." Here is a new theme and one worthy of discussion.

Today mankind is so anxious to get to debet cuts to everything that we haven't time to devote to the quiet contemplation of things which is the only means of gaining stability and wisdom.

The danger in this age is hurrying but there is no short cut to the training of the artist and work done in a hurry is never half so well done as that at a steady pace. A general desire to speed up everything, get everywhere, do everything, see and hear everything in the shortest possible time, with the least possible trouble to ourselves, puts us all at the mercy of the hustler.

We spend onor lives getting in each other's way, treading on each other's toes, trying to get hold of each other's belongings, and generally, behaving in an undignified manner. We call this human progress, and we are proud of it. We know it is uncomfortable and unhealthful; we all know we would rather be alone in the wilderness than in the midst of this majestic loneliness, but we all say the same: "Give me city life; give me mankind in the bulk."

THE KICKER

All hail the kicker

We are always ready to jump on the fellow who stirs us out of the rut, who disturbs our peaceful slumber or rouses us from our sense of duty and for these reasons we are wont to jump on the kicker.

And yet, what good things have we ever accomplished without the aid and initiative of the kicker?

The kickers in England got for the people the Magna Chartas, Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, with a host fo colleagues; kicked and we became independent.

In 1812 we kicked against the high-handed methods of Britain and we made them behave and give our vessels the freedom of the seas. John Brown kicked against the institution of slavery and started a movement which did not die until every black slave became free.

Every reform, every forward movement, is intimated by the kickers.

In our own town kicking got us such improvements as we have.

Of course, sometimes, the kickers are kicking in the wrong direction and then they become knockers. There is a real difference betwen a kicker and a knocker.

Who May Vote.

(Editorial from Times-Virginian of July 19)

The Democratic Executive Committee at its meeting on the 19th of April last among other things adopted the primary plan of making nominations for all offices in this country then and there the party authorities submitted to the written law of the State governing primaries and the voter who desires to vote in said primary will be governed entirely by his rights under the laws of this State and not those of election, official of any character, person or persons who undertake to hinder, intimidate or interfere with a voter in the exercise of his or her right to vote under the law, are themselves violators of the law and should be prosecuted for such infractions and violations and doubtless will be if detected.

The law is plain and is printed in the following words:

Sec. 228. Who may vote.—All persons qualified to vote at the election for which nominations is held, and not disqualified by reasons of other requirements in the law of the party, to which he belongs, may vote at the primary, except that:

No person shall vote for the candidates of more than one party.

No person shall be permitted to vote for the candidates of any party unless in the last preceding general election he voted for the presidential electors nominated by such party, or for the nominee of House of Representatives of such party, or the nominee of such party for Governor, or the nominee of such party for the House of Delegates, but if he did not vote at such general election, then upon his declaration that he will support at the ensuing election the nomines of the party in such primary he will be

Any person offering to vote at a primary, upon challenge, shall be sworn by one of the judges of the primary, and if he knowingly makes any false statement as to any matter material to his right to vote, he shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and, upon conviction shall be punished accordingly. (Id.)

Voter are you qualified under the above law to vote? If so it is your duty to exercise the right and present yourself at the polls and vote for any candidate of your own selection on the ticket.

All of the candidates are Democrats and are entitled to a fair and impartial decision of the voters at each of the precincts in the county, without hindrance or interference.

The object of the law is to encourage the voter to take a hand in the affairs of his county, and every facility and opportunity should be afforded the voter to come to the polls and vote, and no man or set of men have the right to circumscribe the voting privilege of the people vouched safe to all citizens of this commonwealth under the constitution.

Senator Swanson
Congressman Tucker

were voted for as Democrats at the last November election and if you voted for either of them you SHALL be allowed to vote.

Again, suppose you did not vote at all last November, you SHALL be allowed to vote if you declare that you will support the nominees of the primary. Of course every voter will support the nominees of the primary, otherwise you have no right to vote in the primary.

It is reported that certain persons have been stricken today away from the polls on election day that their vote would be challenged for some reason. If any of the judges appointed to conduct this election have been guilty of such indiscreet conduct they should be reported and their conduct as election officers investigated.

Let it be understood that this paper stands for fair elections and any infractions of the law coming to our notice will be exposed and the perpetrators of any infractions and violations of the law will be prosecuted.

The rule of law as written in the Statutes of Virginia must be observed by all and no man or set of men have the authority or right to change, alter or set aside the constituted counts of the law.

So what is the law? It is not long printed in full and can be observed by all.

Who may vote? Any person who is qualified to vote at the last general election, Democrat, Citizen Party or Populist person" shall vote if qualified.

Then it is person and qualified you shall vote.
